

FR. CRAIG MORRISON, O.CARM.
ST. TITUS BRANDSMA

Craig E. Morrison is the dean of the faculty of Ancient Near Eastern Languages and is professor of Aramaic and Syriac Languages at the Pontifical Biblical Institute in Rome. He has written for The Bible Today, The Word Among Us and Give Us This Day. He is one of the editorial advisors for Mount Carmel, the Carmelite Magazine from Oxford. He has a commentary on King David in the Second Book of Samuel from Liturgical Press. His next publication will appear in January 2025 titled, What Does the Bible Say about Violence. His current academic research is focused on the new critical edition of the Hebrew Bible, the Biblia Hebraica Quinta for which he is working on the critical edition of the Books of Samuel. On occasion, he leads retreats at the Mount Carmel Spiritual Centre in Niagara Falls.